DR. CADMAN CONCLUDES LECTURE COURSE WITH ELOQUENT ADDRESS

"The New Democracy," Theme of Inspiring Discourse

The last number of the Community Entertainment Course was held on Wednesday evening, when Dr. Parkes Cadman, pastor of the Park Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn, New York, delivered an inspiring address on "The New Democracy."

The lecture was enjoyed by a large audience of townspeople and students. Dr. Omwake made a few preliminary remarks concerning the plans made by the committee for next year's entertainment course. He then introduced the speaker who has been at Ursinus before and is well known to college audiences.

Dr. Cadman delivered his discourse in an eloquent and forceful manner. The presentation of his vital message was enhanced by the peculiar brilliancy of his style. He impressed great truths with sledge hammer force and indicated world ideals with swift flights of imagination while his strains of humor added a pleasing touch.

Dr. Cadman first spoke of the position of America among the nations of the world, past and present. The criterion of a nation's usefulness is, he declared, "What has it contributed to the aggregate of human good?" The speaker further went on to show that nations, as well as people, die. They either live for God's purpose or they die.

Of the departed nations, the despots of the East, great in learning, knew much, but accomplished little. Rome gave us law; Greece, art; Judea, religion. The reason that the ancient nations did not endure was because their religion failed to uplift them. They lacked the control of a great centralized spiritual force.

Of the foundation of the American republic, the salient characteristics were those of the connection of democracy with religion, the gradual evolution from a theocracy to a democracy. The eighteenth century a drunken and dissolute age, yet gave us men like Washington and Judge Marshall.

Concerning the world war, Dr. Cadman declared it was not a war between nations but a war among the members of the white race. The people of the other races were looking on and saying, "See how these Christians love one another." Why did forty million of the white race die? What is to come out of it all? "Patriotism is not enough," declared the speaker. The best internationalist is devoted to his own country. The best American is one who is fixed in heart to his own country and loves all men in the love of God. The peace of the world should be demonstrated in justice and compassion and mercy.

SPECIAL VESPER SERVICES HELD ON MOTHERS' DAY

The vesper service commemorating Mothers' Day on Sunday afternoon was one which left a deep impression in the minds of all present. Herbert Howells, president of the Y. M. C. A., was the leader. The special feature was a solo, "Little Mother of Mine," by Miss Greta Hinkle, '19, of Reading. Rev. W. F. Brooks, of Spring City, was the speaker. He thrilled his hearers by directing their attention to mothers ever thoughtful, sympathetic, industrious and loving. Mr. Howells greatly added to the service by his remarks and then asked each one to vow always to be mindful of mother.

Let Us Meet at Commencement

DEAR FELLOWS:

This year, we who are alumni and former students can go back to the old campus at Commencement time with a pride we never had the right to feel before—pride in our beautiful new building which graces the college grounds, the Alumni Memorial Library Building. We believe this structure—a sacred shrine when considered in the light of its purpose as a memorial—will constitute a rallying point for hundreds of Ursinus men and women this year.

Remember Alumni Day, Saturday, June 3. Meanwhile send Money and subscriptions to our Treasurer, A. P. FRANTZ, 2147 South Twentieth Street, Philadelphia.

THE COMMITTEE.

Junior Players Present "The Country Cousin" Before a Crowded House

Audience Pleased by Excellent Acting of the Entire Cast.—Miss Lillian Isenberg and Mr. Herbert Howells Take Leading Parts

On Saturday evening the Junior class presented "The Country Cousin," a play in four acts, by Booth Tarkington, in Bomberger Hall, for the benefit of the 1923 Ruby. A host of friends of the class jammed the auditorium to capacity.

All comment on the play is favorable. Everybody agrees that the acting was good, and the production well staged. The costuming was excellent.

The characters

The leading parts were taken by Miss Lillian Isenberg and Mr. Herbert Howells. Miss Isenberg's portrayal of Nancy Price, the country cousin, was admirably done. She gave a well tempered picture of the quiet, true and faithful country woman. Her restraint on the stage was pleasing.

Mr. Howells' character of George Tewksberry Reynolds, 3rd, provided the foil for the country cousin. His portrayal was true to the empty-headed, egotistic and slightly cynical character of this scion of a decadent line.

Miss Millicent Xander, by her excellent acting made more out of the part of Eleanor Howitt than the lines would indicate. Her stage presence put over the little country girl, who had just inherited a large fortune, and wanted to see what "real life" was like.

The part of Eleanor's grasping and selfish stepmother was admirably taken by Miss Claire Lawrence, while that of the unscrupulous and swindling father was portrayed by Mr. Beattie.

The entire cast of characters follows:

(In order of their appearance.)
Mrs. Howitt.... Reba E. Muschlitz
Eleanor Howitt... Millicent Z Xander
Sam Wilson W. Harry Snyder
Nancy Price.... Lillian M. Isenberg
George Tewksberry Reynolds, 3rd
Herbert Howells

Stanley Howitt.... Walter K. Beattie
Athalie Wainwright... Aileen L. Neff
Mrs. Kinney Caroline McBlain
Cyril Kinney E. K. Houck
Mrs. Maude Howitt... Claire Lawrence
Archie Gore E. K. Miller
Pruitt William R. Shaffer

Blake Stanley Reifsnider
The splendid acting done by the whole cast is the greatest tribute that can be paid to Mr. C. Henri Regar, who coached the play, and to his assistant, Mr. N. S. Detwiler.

The Scenery

The stage was beautifully dressed in each of the three scenes used during the four acts. The first was the country sitting room of Mrs. Howitt, at Centreville, Ohio. It was quite typical with its bookcase, piano, waxwork, and rag rugs.

The second scene was the exterior of a "Villa" by the sea and its red tiles and white walls were quite true and beautiful. The third was a room in the "Villa" and was cleverly got up in a handsome manner.

Mr. Regar, as planner of this scenery, again deserves considerable praise.

The Committees

The general committee was composed of Miss Isenberg, chairman, Millicent Xander, Mary Gross, Claire Lawrence, W. K. Beattie, W. Harry Snyder, and Herbert Howells.

The Stage Artists were Mary Kirkpatrick and Siegfried C. Baden. Helen Boyer and A. G. Leeming were the property managers; Robert Johnston was electrician and Linda Hoyer was head usher.

Between the acts, Frances Hoover rendered several organ selections and Reba Muschlitz entertained at the piano.

THE LIBRARY CLOCK

Arrangements have been completed for installing a Dennison Gravity Escapement tower clock in the gable of the new Alumni Memorial Library building before the opening of the 1922 fall term. This is a mark of appreciation by the class of 1921, built from weight to face, for the spot where it will, for generations, speak out the last word in accuracy of time telling. A detailed but not too technical description of this extraordinary clock will be published when it is placed in position.

GROUPS ASSEMBLE FOR FINAL EXERCISES

New Officers Installed

Classical

The meeting of the Classical group at the home of Dr. Baden last Tuesday evening marked the closing of the group's activities for the college year.

In a short business meeting in which election of officers took place for the ensuing year. Mr. Ehlman was elected president; Mr. Stover, vice president; Miss Kistler, secretary, and Mr. Williams, treasurer.

The group was honored with the presence of Dr. Good who gave a most interesting talk on Italy. A helpful talk—"Advice to Ministers of Tomorrow" was given by Dr. Jordan. Dean Kline spoke on the worthiness of the Classical group. A general farewell to the seniors and hopes for a successful new year was given in Dr. Baden's talk.

In the regular program for the evening Mr. Greenawalt performed well at the piano. Mr. Sheeder gave a well rendered vocal solo. A brief history of the 1922 Classics was read by Mr. Wildasin. Mr. Bright humorously informed the group of the Senior bequeathments in the class will. Mr. Weller read the prophecy for the seniors of the Classical group. The Classical Astounder was read by Gobrecht.

J. W. Myers, '20, and Miss Klingler, '21, gave short talks.

Mathematical

The final meeting of the Mathematical group for the college year was held at Shreiner Hall last Tuesday evening.

In the short business meeting which preceded the regular program, election of officers took place for the ensuing year in which Mr. Baden was given the grand potentate's chair. Miss Fox was elected vice president; Miss Shupp, secretary; Mr. Kauffman, treasurer. Valley Forge, June 1, was the place and time decided upon for the annual group picnic.

In the first number on the program Mr. Stock and Miss Louise Hinkle displayed unusual skill in technique in a piano duet. Miss Kirkpatrick's "Puzzles" proved an elusive novelty. Miss Fox's recitation was pleasingly received. Miss McCavery showed careful preparation in her number on linkwork. The future of the senior members of the group was ably and pleasingly given in Miss Boyer's ap-

BASEBALL TEAM

VICTORIOUS OVER

DREXEL AND DICKINSON

Drexel Outclassed—Score 11-2

Ursinus started another winning streak again last week when the baseball nine scored two clean victories over Drexel and Dickinson at Collegeville and Carlisle respectively. Heavy hitting on the part of the whole team and two homers by Kengle figured prominently.

Operations started on Wednesday with the victory over Drexel on Patterson field. From the opening of the initial inning the local batters showed superiority over the Philadelphia team altho they were unable to score until the fourth inning when Kengle came home on Canan's bunt and High's sacrifice hit.

Drexel drew first blood in the first, with two out. Collingsgrove hit to center; Belcher walked; Hagan hit to right, scoring Collingsgrove. Neither team scored in the second or third stanzas. For some reason Ursinus was unable to connect with the slow, easy-looking balls Robinson was sending over the plate.

Wisner and Kengle solved the riddle in the fifth when the former came home on his own pretty drive to left and Kengle's hit to center. Joe Canan hit out to first.

The sixth inning proved the visitors' undoing. Ursinus scored 8 runs on three hits, three walks and two errors. Yarnall broke the ice by teasing the Drexel twirler into a walk. High succeeded in following suit. Flitter reached first on Robinson's error while Yarnall scored. High and Flitter crossed the plate on the next play, a hit by Paine and an error by Stevenson, visiting third sacker.

"Pop" Cornog struck out. Faye sent a hot one over third, Wisner walked and Paine and Faye scored on Kengle's spectacular batting in the direction of center field. Wisner trotted home for a second tally on Canan's drive between first and second.

Yarnall came to bat for the second time in that inning, and, in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, sent Kengle and Canan across for the seventh and eighth runs. High was out, Terry to Hagan; Flitter hit out to first.

A great calm settled on the game in the seventh and eighth couplets. Ursinus was tired of track work between the bases, and Drexel, altho fully rested, failed to do more than reach the score.

Then, to end the game fittingly both teams roused the stands again, Wisner marking up the final point for

Editorial Comment

As long as colleges exist, so long will waves of enthusiasm for a greater college spirit come and go; so long will the discussion of college spirit become trite and hackneyed. Today we are men moved and inspired with new ambitions and new ideals; tomorrow we are hibernating hydrophobia germs waiting for another spasmotic declaration of principles and ideals, while each succeeding occasion find us less further advanced toward a goal than the preceding. Many a man's failure is in that he lacks the ambition to go ahead and do when he knows he is right. This is the reason why so many people amount to but little and why so few ever reach a pinnacle.

What has happened to the movement for a better college spirit initiated by the H-P group and promoted by the Student Council which was so much to the forefront but a short time ago? What has happened to the movement which caused newspapers to herald broadcast the new Ursinus? Where is the movement that caused every Ursinus student to be transformed into a phantom spirit of Ursinus "pep"? It is dead! There was no better evidence of the departed spirit than that given two weeks ago when the "Bulletin" sent a representative to an Ursinus baseball game to see how the new system of cheering worked out.

Have you noticed any change in Ursinus as a result of that first "good fellowship" meeting which was so unanimous for Ursinus "pep"? Well, the Freshmen knock at the doors before entering; we have three new songs, and a new pumping station. That is the change. Remarkable, are the results, so remarkable that the scenes of our mass meetings become farcical and ludicrous; the seed of a beautiful flower of thought and purpose planted by the H. P. group develops into a hideous hybrid; our protestations in favor of a better Ursinus become as the noise of "sounding brass and tinkling cymbals".

"Some said it couldn't be done, but they did it", writes a contributor to the "Weekly" in referring to the new Ursinus spirit at the time of its birth. He was wrong. We have not done it. He should have penned in the last clause of his sentence, "They are doing it." But we are not doing it now and even then we were, the writer's "They did it" would be untrue. The spirit must live; it must be nourished; it must grow. It must not go backward, but forward as do all other things which attain success. That spirit must be greater today than it was yesterday; it must carry on.

It is realized that the progress toward our goal must be slow; so slow that at times it may seem tardy, delayed and even reversed. Doubtless our progress is upward even though there be no definite conscious movement toward a goal. But when we once set about to hasten progress which we know is too slow, we must be progressive.

We did not overcome the tendency for ideals to slip away from us and leave us unguarded and perplexed when we attempted to act according to the principles of our doctrine. We have, as anticipated, suffered the strain of indecision in believing one hypothesis and acting upon another.

The keynote of that first meeting for a greater college democracy was good fellowship—fraternity. We have failed to continue to strike the keynote; the resonance of the first note has been muffled. To repeat the words of my former editorial, All protestations in favor of a better college spirit and a more satisfying democracy will be without avail if it is not realized that fraternity is more than a sentiment, but an applied condition which makes possible liberty and equality. Our cooperation with the combination of intelligence and unity of purpose for a better college spirit will mean the realization of a greater Ursinus and a cherished Alma Mater.

The brief plastic moment is our opportunity when we may mold and shape for beauty. The time is critical. The destiny of our movement for a greater college democracy is staked upon a single throw. The throw is another "booster" meeting. Let us carry thru the plans we advocated. Let us have that intended meeting to adopt our proposed resolutions so that we may enter our vacations with that boost-Ursinus spirit which we are determined to have.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL BANQUETS

College Dining Hall is Scene of Feast
Arranged by Dr. Good

About twenty members of the Brotherhood of St. Paul were tendered a banquet in the Freeland Hall dining room on Thursday evening. Dr. Good, Professor of Church History, was the host of the occasion.

"Supper," said Wildasin, '22, who presided, "served merely as a form of practice for us and this was the real game." In those few words he summed up the whole effect of the very splendid array prepared by the kitchen faculty and so well served by an efficient force of waiters.

When the last of the fourth course had disappeared Dr. Good spoke briefly, supplementing what he had said at an meeting earlier in the evening. He had there spoken to exhort the brotherhood to more consecrated service to the Lord during the present period of training. He mentioned several of the temptations that might well be avoided by future theologians, calling especial attention to the dangers of irreverence, frivolity, doubt, inconsistency and laziness in college work. He expressed the desire that more men might have that spirit of consecration to one's life work which, as he explained, Rev. Reimert and other noble characters had held.

President Omwake who, with Dr. Good, first organized the Brotherhood of St. Paul, spoke in eulogy of the work of Dr. Good and, as he called attention to the need for church co-operation in the world today, he showed the great opportunity for service of the ministers of tomorrow.

Other addresses were heard from Dean Kline, Professor Yost, Dr. Mesinger and Rev. Clapp, all of whom spoke optimistically of the ministry as a life work and showed the great need for adequate preparation.

At a business meeting preceding the banquet Arthur Fretz was elected president of the organization for the coming year; Stover was chosen vice president and Williams, secretary and treasurer. At that time Wm. D. Reimert was elected into active membership.

Band Concert Cancelled

The Band Concert under the leadership of Rev. E. J. La Rose, '98, which was scheduled to be given May 20, has been cancelled due to the arrangements made for the performance of the Norfleet Trio on May 27. Further, because it is thought that two concerts in one week would not receive the support desired. Despite the cancellation of the Band Concert on May 20, we are assured of Mr. La Rose's concert during Commencement Week.

SCHAFF

An excellent literary program was given in Schaff Hall.

Miss Louise Hinkle's piano solo was a fitting opening for the program. It was a classic selection and was exceedingly well rendered. The audience was well informed of the facts of Tolstoy's life in Miss Fox's well given reading. The subject of Mr. W. H. K. Miller's reading from Tolstoy was well chosen and delivered in an interesting manner. Mr. Fretz sang a song and his humorous, original encore was much applauded. Miss Mills' humorous selection was pleasingly long and showed careful preparation. Miss Kurtz showed a strain of genius in whistling to her own accompaniment in a charming selection. The dramatic art again came to the fore in an act from Hugo's Hernani. Mr. Detwiler was ably assisted by Miss Sarah Hinkle and Mr. Klopp. Schaff Gazette, by Miss Haelig was presented in an original dialogue by Miss Haelig and Mr. Fretz.

ZWINGLIAN

Zwing Hall last Friday night was the scene of hilarity, spiced with humor, farce and talent. It was Sophomore night and their program established a standard for a miscellaneous program.

Miss Helen Isenberg and Mr. Reimert deserve special merit in their very humorous production. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Unparalleled Bietsch assisted by Misses Shrieve and Groninger and Mr. Kengle. The talented side of the programme was displayed in Miss Shrieve's splendid reading and the talented Miss Yost's piano solo. The Sophomore quartette under the able leadership of Mr. Griffen rendered pleasing harmonious selections. Mr. Rensch's "Brass Music" deserves commendation. Mr. Flitter displayed all qualities necessary for a historian in his history of the achievements of the class of '24.

Many old Zwinglians were present at the meeting. Each contributed a short spicy talk, expressing their happiness to be back and hopes for Zwing's future success.

After speaking with the World Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Dorothy Halliday, a Student Volunteer secretary, spoke to the cabinet on Thursday afternoon. She offered a number of valuable suggestions for the work of the ensuing year. She is spending several days on the campus, during which time, all girls are privileged to have personal conference with her.

Plans are being made for the annual Y. W. conference to be held at Eaglesmere from June 20th to June 30th. It is to be regretted that our association has been allotted only five delegates, three to be chosen from the cabinet, and two from the association.

John Hancock Said:—

(IN 1774)

"I HAVE ever considered it as the indispensable duty of every member of society to promote, as far as in him lies, the prosperity of every individual, but more especially of the community in which he belongs."

Life insurance is inseparably bound up with the prosperity of every individual, family and community. It is a secure and prosperous business and satisfactory to the salesman in every way.

The JOHN HANCOCK would like to interest a few ambitious men who graduate this year to make JOHN HANCOCK selling their life work.

Statistics on college graduates who have entered life insurance place it at the very top as a source of income. Before making a decision as to your career it would be well to make inquiries of the "Agency Department."

The Tower Window

THE College has just completed an important addition to its equipment in the new water plant. It is located on the rear campus a few hundred yards from the men's dormitories to the left of the drive leading to the athletic grounds. Visitors to the College will be repaid for inspecting it.

The College suffered so severely from a shortage of water during the drought last summer and fall, that it became imperative to provide some means of increasing the supply. The Directors thoroughly canvassed the situation and decided to sink another well. There were already three artesian wells on the premises varying from 250 to 400 feet in depth. One of these yielded no water and another was of rather slight capacity. The prospect of getting a good well was not flattering, and the location of the new well became a matter of speculation among those who were interested. There will come to the mind of everyone who reads this the magical method of locating water in the earth by means of a forked branch of a tree. Although it was a serious matter we had humor enough to apply this method and the Dean and our old friend Jerome Bordner are witnesses to the fact that the well was drilled at precisely the place where the forked stick turned abruptly downward! Now no one may even whisper a doubt as to the validity of this time-honored way of locating a well as long as the present generation lives at Ursinus College.

The new well is 251 feet deep and yields forty gallons per minute. Instead of pumping by connecting with the air-lift system by which the other wells are operated, this well is equipped with a Chippewa double acting deep-well pump driven by a powerful motor. The machinery is housed in a neat little pump house of architectural design suited to its location and surroundings.

We believe the water problem at Ursinus is now solved for years to come, and having two independent pumping systems we need no longer live in fear lest we suffer from a break in the machinery such as we were subject to when dependent on a single machine.

The cost of this improvement complete is $4500, and the money has not yet been provided except as bill have been paid from current funds. We have many cold water advocates among the friends of Ursinus. Will not some one among them, or all of them together, find it a pleasure to make this excellent new water plant a gift to the institution?

I. N. A. HOLDS SPRING CONVENTION AT DELAWARE

The Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States held its semi-annual convention at the University of Delaware in Newark, on Friday and Saturday of last week. On Friday night Frederick William Wile, the well known European newspaper correspondent, spoke at a banquet in the University dining hall. The business of the convention was transacted on Saturday morning and in the afternoon the delegates were entertained at a baseball game and the May Day exercises of the Women's College of Delaware.

R. F. Deitz, '24, and F. N. Schlegel, '23, represented the Weekly.

The prize winners in a typewriting contest for the championship of Delaware County which was held in Chester on April 29 were all from the Ridley Park High School. The superintendent is William Yeager, '14.

There will be a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. Cabinets on Monday. At this meeting the staff for the 1922-23 "Handbook" will be elected. It is also planned to outline the work of the Associations co-operatively, for the ensuing year.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER SECRETARY ADDRESSES Y. W.

Miss Halliday Wins Interest in Mission Movement.

Miss Dorothy Halliday was the speaker at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. in Schaff Hall on Thursday evening. Miss Halliday who is a Student Volunteer secretary won the hearts of all who heard her.

The meeting was essentially one including a study of missions and missionaries. Appropriate hymns were sung and a Scripture passage was read. Miss Doris Allen led the meeting, and Miss Mildred Hollenbach, a Student Volunteer, sang a pleasing solo.

Miss Halliday spoke on the subject of missionaries. Her charming personality and her pleasing voice helped to bring out her message very vividly. Not only was her talk inspiring to those who will become missionaries, but she had a vital message for everyone. Having lived in India for a while she told a number of interesting experiences which sounded like story-book tales, but which were really true. Close association with returned and future missionaries, in addition to a matchless enthusiasm of her own, enabled her to speak most convincingly on the subject, discussing such phases as: What missionaries have to cope with, how they live, and the rewards they receive.

URSINUS DROPS TWO MATCHES

Loses to Moravian and Juniata in Net Encounters.

By the score 5-1, Ursinus was defeated by Moravian at Bethlehem and by Juniata on the home courts. Despite the fact that all of the players fought hard, the team as a whole seemed lacking in the "punch" to win their individual encounters. In the doubles, better spirit was shown and a keener struggle ensued even though they were unable to win the coveted match.

Capt. Frutchey alone seemed to be playing his regular game and, with apparent ease, scored the only point for Ursinus in both matches, which, in itself, is explanatory of his brilliant playing and exceptional "head-work" while on the court.

The scores:

Ursinus	Singles	Moravian
G. M. Miller	—2-1	Hoffman—6-6
Snyder	—4-2	Steininger—6-6
Frutchey	—7-6	Stocker—5-4
Sheely	—5-1	Helmick—7-6

Doubles

Miller & Snyder	3-4	Hoffman & Steininger	6-6
Frutchey & Sheely	5-6-0	Helmick & Stocker	7-4-6

Singles

Ursinus	Juniata
Miller—0-2	Ellis—6-6
Snyder—2-1	Stoyer—6-6
Sheely—6-1-2	Brumbaugh—2-6-6
Frutchey—6-2-6	Wolfgang—3-6-1

Doubles

Snyder & Miller	4-6	Stoyer & Wolfgang	6-8
Frutchey & Sheely	3-6-6	Ellis & Brumbaugh	6-3-8

FINAL INTERSCHOLASTIC DEBATE IN BOMBERGER ON FRIDAY EVENING

The final contest of the interscholastic Debating League will be held in Bomberger Hall on Friday evening, May 19, at eight o'clock. The schools contending for the banner that is presented each year by the League to the victorious team are Summit Hill High and Cheltenham High. The former will uphold the negative side.

Both teams have been victorious in several contests thru the season and enter upon the final contest with a great deal of enthusiasm and a determination to win. The meetings of the literary societies have been arranged to be held early so as to permit members to attend the interscholastic affair.

pearance. Dr. Clawson's remarks were interesting and helpful.

Miss Louise Hinkle, retiring president of the group, added the fitting climax in a farewell address. In behalf of the senior members of the group Miss Hinkle spoke of their regret in departing and wished the Mathematical group unparalleled success. Mr. Baden, president-elect, eloquently eulogized the work of the seniors in the group and spoke of future plans.

H-P Group

The members of the H-P group enjoyed a fine program for their last one of the year. Mr. Hunter gave a very interesting talk on "My Choice for Governor." His reasons were especially well chosen. Mr. Zandt in his discourse on Schopenhauer introduced the custom of treating philosophers and philosophical subjects at the group meeting. This was well received and showed great preparation. Mr. Helfrich gave a resume of the Booster movement and left the members of the group think out its future for themselves. A new vocalist was discovered in Mr. C. L. Rutter who rendered several pleasing selections. Mr. Deibler gave an informal talk on the method of a band of Irish highwaymen and their destruction in central Pennsylvania.

Mr. Deitz read his intensely interesting editorial paper on "The Future of Our Group." Prof. Munson's talk on "Life Work" was of especial merit and contained much good advice. The results of the election of officers for next year are as follows: President J. Harley Hunter; vice president, C. Helfrich; secretary, Willard Rosenberger; treasurer, Meade Cauffiel; critic, W. D. Reimert.

Ursinus, and Collinsgrove doing likewise in a desperate effort to even up the score.

Dickinson Victories Avenged

Two home runs by Kengle, a double and three bagger on the part of Flitter, and a mighty desire to avenge defeats in football and basketball gave the team a timely victory over Dickinson at Carlisle, on Saturday. The score was 13-8.

At the end of the first inning both teams were even at 3-3. Faye had walked, Wismer singled and Kengle had topped it off with a circuit clout that brought all of them home. Davis reached first on Faye's error. Collins walked. Saterlee duplicated Kengle's performance.

The second was uneventful and of the one-two-three type. But in the third Kengle, not satisfied with a single home run connected with the pill for a second, bringing home Faye, who had singled. Canan and High reached first on errors; Flitter doubled; Paine hit safe with the result that the three previous batters were able to make the score 5-3. Dickinson did nothing in her half of the frame.

Five more runs were Ursinus' reward for hard hitting in the very next turn at bat. Faye hit safe. Wismer doubled, scoring Faye. Kengle struck out. Canan and High both singled, and romed home on Flitter's three bagger. That ended the game as far as Ursinus was concerned. But Dickinson was slated for a few more counters.

They came in the sixth when Saterlee sent out the second three sack drive of the game and Pippa, Sayes and Sakin, each contributed a hit. Saterlee, Pippa and Sakin again came into the foreground in the seventh with three more singles. The score then stood 13-8. It remained that way for the rest of the game.

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. M. Cutschalk, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at U. of P., addressed the "Y" on Wednesday evening in the social rooms. He was extremely forceful and enthusiastic in his talk and seemed to live his message.

Basing his remarks on the words of Jesus "I lay it down and take it up again" when He spoke of His life, Mr. Cutschalk divided his remarks into three divisions.

First, he said that this was an example of a power over powers. The very fact that Jesus had power over life with all of its powers was exemplary of the first statement. An illustration of this in the life of man was cited as an engineer controlling a locomotive. Still greater in the world and over it is the power of God.

Again, the speaker presented a problem to be solved. Which shall dominate the world, especially Western civilization, the power of science or that of God? Science and religion have been harnessed together as a team for quite some time, the former representing a fleet Arabian steed and the latter an ox. They have made an uneven team. As a result, the chariot of western civilization has been traveling in a circle. Shall it continue so? "Don't let the test tube overcome the New Testament!"

Finally, a prophetic aspect was taken when the speaker mentioned the triumvirate that science itself has said would be most successful in accomplishing world good, namely, linking the power of natural science, the power within man and the power of Jesus Christ with the last dominating.

President Geo. L. Omwake left this morning for Mercersburg where, for the next three days, he will be in attendance upon the annual meeting of the Mercersburg Classis of the Potomac Synod of the Reformed Church. Dr. Omwake's presence there will be in the interests of the Forward Movement.

Prof. Paul A. Mertz spent the week end in Cleveland, Ohio, where he visited Dr. Garry C. Myers, '09, who is Professor of Psychology in the Cleveland School of Education.
